News of Manchester

Manchester Bureau, Times-Dispatch, 1102 Hull Street.

Little interest has been taken in the gubernatorial contest here during the past few months, but now that the date of the primary is close at hand, politics is being discussed by almost every one.

The contest in Manchester is going to be close, and both the Mann and Theker supporters are claiming the city. Judging from what can be learned from conservative politicians here, the majority that either candidate may receive will be very small.

The Mann supporters claim that their candidate will get a majority of about 160. There are something over 750 registered voters here, and it is hardly probably that more than 600 of these will vote.

The only interest in the other candidates on the State Ucket centres around the nomination of the Commissioner of Agriculture. J. Thompson Brown has a strong following here, which is doing everything possible to carry the city against G. W. Koiner, the jneumbent.

Jesse Beeb, a negro man, was found prostrated at the corner of Twentieth and Bainbridge Streets on Saturday night. When he was picked up by some negroes who happened to be passing, he was in an unconscious condition. He was taken to his home, 320 West Twentich Street, where he was attended by Dr. M. P. Rucker, who said that the man was polsoned by morphine and whiskey. After working over him some time, Dr. Rucker was able to revive him. He was reported as improving yesterday.

He denies having taken any drug, the cannot account for the occurrence, and his only solution of it is that some one who gave him a drink put morphine in it in order to knock him.
